SODEN
MINERAL PASTILLES

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES, which were awarded the highest distinction by a medical jury at the International Exhibition at Brussels, have proved to be the most successful nostrum in the treatment of the organs of respiration and digestion.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are prescribed by physicians in diseases of the lungs and chest and asthma. The benefit derived from their use is unsurpassed, and even in the most chronic cases they soothe, ease and stimulate.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are preferable to all similar preparations, because they are a natural product and produced from the spinal fluid, containing in an undiminished degree all theorative principles of these springs.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are prepared exclusively under the personal supervision and control of W. STOELZLING, M. D., K. K. Sanitary Councillor.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are unequalled as a solvent in coughs and catarrhs, even in the most chronic cases, and successfully used in all remedial treatment.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are a sure remedy in whooping cough and diphtheria; in the former they lessen the paroxysm of the attack while preventing the latter disease, which cannot take hold in a throat not affected by catarrh.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES derive increased value from the fact of having a very favorable influence upon the organs of digestion.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are light enough to be kept in every home. All nostrums are recommended to treat their children during the cold season to allow a Pastille slowly to melt in their mouths while out on errands or going to school.

NODEN MINERAL PASTILLES are for sale at nearly all druggists' at 50¢ a box. Should your nostrust not keep them, kindly address the Nodens Mineral Springs Co. (Limited), 15 CEDAR ST., NEW YORK.

When Ed Butler attempted to talk on the contests he was interrupted by the chairman.

DOWNED ED BUTLER.

The Second Ward had voted when Ed Butler rose after Sheahan and shouted, "Ed is here to contest the election." "Who?"

"Ed Butler," said O'Meara. "He was drowned in a flood of noise, and 'Sis down' came from every side. When quiet was restored, the chairman said, 'Ed is here to contest the election.'"

Capt. Hardy came near losing his laurels as a Sergeant-at-Arms during the roar exerting himself to shut off Ed Butler but had no success.

Sergeant-at-Arms Hardy, who is related to Senator, made a speech which the Allen men thought was good, but without success. Israel attempted to address the Chair, when sergeant-at-arms Hauseau stopped him, saying,

"You make that brother-in-law of yours sit down," retorted the delegate.

They reached the Fourth Ward.

When the vote proceeded at the end Dr. Lutz announced that the amended motion was carried.

TAYLOR OF THE TWENTY-SECOND

sought for a ruling on contested. He objected to the nomination of the committee to be represented on the committee. He objected to gentlemen getting up and shouting contest.

The call proceeded, and the convention adjourned.

The call proceeded, and the convention adjourned.

The vote proceeded at the end Dr. Lutz announced that the motion had not been seconded, but it if it were referred to the committee on Credentials.

Spanhous said that the Committee on Credentials had not yet been appointed and therefore nothing could be referred to it.

The Chair decided the point well taken, and after a little sparing the chairmen of the various committees on the Committees on Credentials, Permanent Organization and Rules was begun.

The call proceeded to select the committee.

During the call of the wards for members of committees the Allen men turned to the representation of the committees on credentials, permanent organization and rules.

When the Eighteenth Ward was reached the chair said, "Ahe was an-named as member of the Central Committee. There he was to lead the Nooman fight.

for the delegates who claimed seats. When the First Ward was called, the chair said, "I will give them affidavits from a member of the First Ward who was thrown out to prove to them. Does the chair wish to see them?" said Macklin.

"I will give them to the chair."

He then presented the papers to the Chair, but the Chair ruled that they should go to the committee.

"Swindle," shouted a voice in the rear.

The Chair threatened to clear the lobby.

The door bell tolled again and resulted in the following selection of committee.

The Nooman men, represented by N and the Allen men by A after their names.

When the strength of the Nooman men on the Committee of Credential was secured the Allen men in the convention were inclined to believe that they would lose the day. The following is the evidence which passes upon the claims of the delegates applying for seats in the convention:

ON READING.

After the committee had named a motion was made to adjourn until 8 o'clock. A call of the wards resulted in the usual roar and confusion. For a time it was thought impossible to determine any single voice on the floor. When the Sixth Ward was reached both the delegations voted against the adjournment and was claimed as aces to the Nooman men. The delegations and every vote against it were counted as a showing of Nooman strength. Delegates began to leave the hall to ask the question. He wanted to know if the motion was passed. He wanted to know if the motion was passed to adjourn.

"It's adjourned," shouted the Chair. John B. O'Malley, who had only a few minutes before warned the delegation, and who, jumping out of the chair, ran across the floor to seat himself, the delegation and the lobby.

"Koetter's Hotel," he said, "we've got a ticket that was issued to me by the police, and I am holding it now."

"You want to Koetter's," the delegation said.

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Fair weather; colder; northwesterly winds.

Mr. CLARKSON performs the duties of Lord High Executioner for the Postal Department with efficiency and dispatch.

UNDER the ruling of the new Commissioner of Pensions, patriotism will cease to be a virtue which is its own best reward, and will become a big cash paying investment.

Is the Governor willing to give a recommendation of an appropriation for the New York centennial celebration and not a single word of commendation for the St. Louis celebration?

Mr. FRANK GAIENNE's suggestion that the St. Louis celebration of the Washington Centennial be made the Mississippi Valley celebration should be adopted. But what does Gov. FRANCIS think about it?

The Missouri consular slate contains the names of two colored Republicans with recommendations for appointments. The President will have to break his anti-colored rule or the slate. Colored Republicans will await the result with interest.

The interest of the children in the Washington Centennial and the educational value of a commemoration of the event are among its most excellent features. It will be an object lesson in patriotic history and the children should participate.

Gov. FRANCIS was enthusiastically in favor of an appropriation for a Missouri display at the New York celebration. Some of this enthusiasm exhibited in favor of an appropriation for the St. Louis celebration would be gratefully received by the Governor's fellow-towners.

As a St. Louisian and ex-Mayer of the city, St. Louisans naturally expect hearty encouragement and aid from Gov. FRANCIS in their efforts to appropriately celebrate the Washington Centennial and to secure the co-operation of the State authorities. Will the Governor disappoint them?

QUEER things happen in politics. One of the queerest is the pending row between QUAY and WANAMAKER over the proposed appointment of JOHN FIELD as Postmaster of Philadelphia. FIELD is a Republican who once dared to join a committee of 100 to down the boodle bosses of the Republican party in that city, but doubtless WANAMAKER knows how much he contributed to the Harrison campaign fund.

RHODE ISLAND adopted a prohibition amendment in 1885 by a vote of 15,118 to 9,220. But prohibition failed, as it always does, to prohibit. The arrests of drunkards increased from 2,467 in 1885 to 3,638 in 1886 and to 4,000 in 1888. Now, both parties have favored an act submitting the question of repealing the amendment to a vote of the people, and its repeal is expected by a majority as large as that which recently voted down the prohibition amendment in New Hampshire.

A Missouri politician with a fondness for statistics has figured out that there are altogether 1,365 foreign offices, ministers, secretaries of legation, consuls and agents, at the disposal of the State Department. These offices distributed among forty-two States give nine to each. The Missouri big four have asked for fifteen places, leaving a margin of six for refusal. With this margin the State should get her share, but speculation as to six disapprovals will worry the fifteen applicants considerably.

The action of the British House of Lords in rejecting by a tremendous majority the measure for the expulsion of any peer guilty of disreputable conduct was to be expected. Titled nobility is too closely connected with disreputability to expect condemnation of dishonor from its representatives, and there is too much fear of infringement of the people on hereditary privileges for the peers to fall out among themselves.

It would be just as reasonable to expect the millionaire American Senate to disqualify millionaires from holding senatorial seats as for the British lords to expel dishonorable peers.

THE OKLAHOMA SITUATION.

The long expected proclamation opening lands in the Indian Territory to settlement was issued to-day.

The law under which this proclamation is issued provides for the restoration of 2,700,414 acres of Creek and Seminole lands to the public domain, which lands were ceded to the United States for a certain purpose, and the Indian title to which remains unextinguished because the lands were not devoted to the purpose.

The sum of $1,012,925 is appropriated to obtain a relinquishment of the Indian title, and a commission to negotiate for such relinquishment is provided for. Provision is also made for obtaining all the Indian lands west of the 96th meridian "by agreement with the tribes." But until the Indian title shall be thus extinguished the President is bound to keep out all intruders, and by a special provision of the law any person in the meantime intruding upon those lands will be prohibited from entering them after they become subject to entry.

The proclamation therefore only names April 22 as the day when the Oklahoma tract of 1,887,000 acres may be entered, that being the only land at present in a condition to be declared open for settlement.

The regulations regulating the entry of lands under this proclamation place all lands opened for settlement in the Indian Territory under the existing homestead laws, limiting the acquisition of lands to actual settlers, no entry to exceed a quarter section. No other mode of acquisition is permitted except that the rights of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the late civil war, as defined and described in sections 2304 and 2305 of the Revised Statutes, are recognized.

It is evident that the small tract to be opened by this proclamation will hardly be a mouthful, and that the negotiations looking to the opening of the rest of the unoccupied portions of the Territory will be of uncertain duration and result.

Jacksonian Justice.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The Kentucky Judge who adjured his son to stand at the head of a posse of determined men, arrested a gang of desperadoes who had defied the Sheriff, may not be "a Daniel come to judgment," but he is a worthy successor of Andrew Jackson.

When Jackson was appointed Judge of a court in Tennessee his authority was similarly decried by a despotic character, who, rifle in hand, dared the Sheriff to bring him in. Jackson told the Sheriff that he could summon a posse to assist him. The Sheriff at once acted upon the suggestion and called a posse, which was up to Jackson himself. This was an unexpected movement, but Old Hickory, never wanting in nerve, told the Sheriff that if he had to make the arrest he would go alone. Cocking his pistol, but keeping it in his pocket, the Judge walked out of the court and up to the defiant banty; but, instead of expounding with him, he suddenly thrust the pistol in his face, and, swearing a big oath, disarmed him, marched him into court, tried him, convicted him, and hanged him the same day! It needs a little Jacksonian justice to straighten out the tangles in criminal procedure in some of the Kentucky courts.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

—The Detroit won't be world's champion in 1887.

P. G.—Either "Dr. M. Fern" or "M. Fern, M. D." is proper.

J. J. O'Brien.—A 25-cent piece of 1883 with arrows is not a premium.

G. Moore.—The Dublin city officials fly the Union Jack sometimes on July 4, but it is not a regular custom.

L. H. K.—If the state of the theater or hall is not wide enough to walk by the lady's side, you should precede her.

WALTER P. V.—The largest turkey ever shipped to Europe, 2,000 lbs., and fowl dealers bought four-eight pounds.

FRED.—Neither Frank Frayne, Dominick Murray nor John Stevens have any dates at present.

ANSWER TO CORRESPONDENT.

John Bright, son of Jacob Bright was born in 1808, died in 1881, and is buried in the Cobden Cemetery, on November 15, 1811, descending from a family of sturdy Quakers. His earnestness, common sense estimate of every question, and his marked faculty for impressing the common people with honest arguments, have been widely attributed to his Quaker training and similarity of early manners. He was in 1830 a member of the New Haven Friends' school, and later went to school at York and Newton. In 1837, when a member of the House of Commons, he introduced a bill for the abolition of slavery. His last speech in the Commons was on the franchise. This was a failure, though it was a signal effort. John Morley says Whittier was Bright's favorite poet.
